

NITEC IN COMMUNITY CARE & SOCIAL SERVICES

Core Modules

Anatomy and Physiology

On completion of the module, students should be able to relate the organization of the human body, examine structures and functions of the various human systems as well as relate the terminologies and clinical manifestations of common diseases.

Client Care

On completion of the module, students should be able to perform infection control, assist with activities of daily living of clients, render First Aid, perform cardiopulmonary resuscitation, assist with health care procedures, health screening, nutritional and medication needs of clients.

Social Services in Singapore

On completion of the module, students should be able to describe the roles of community services and responsibilities of staff working in the sector. In addition, students should be able to identify and explain the legislative acts and general developments pertaining to the social service sector in Singapore.

Rehabilitative Services - Physiotherapy

On completion of the module, students should be able to apply their skills and knowledge in assisting the therapists in conducting therapeutic exercises for clients with various medical conditions. They will be equipped with skills to handle clients requiring mobility aids as well as to assist the therapists in applying electrical and mechanical modalities under supervision.

Centre Operations

On completion of the module, students should be able to assist with the daily operations of a social work agency, carry out workplace safety and health procedures and perform administrative work.

Rehabilitative Services – Occupational Therapy

On completion of the module, students should be able to assist the therapists in training clients in Activities of Daily Living, planning and conducting group and community activities / events for clients and in planning and supervising work training programmes.

Introduction to Social Work

On completion of the module, students should be able to provide an overview of social work profession and social work practices pertaining to working with various client groups.

Case Management

On completion of the module, students should be able to describe the concept and process of case management. They should be able to assist the case manager in the helping process and perform basic attending skills to facilitate the helping process.

On-The-Job Training I

On completion of the module, trainees should be able to apply and integrate Year 1 skills and knowledge acquired at ITE College, and further develop competencies at the workplace.

On-The-Job Training II

On completion of the module, trainees should be able to apply and integrate Year 2 skills and knowledge acquired at ITE College, and further develop competencies at the workplace.